

Interview Tips

- Prepare for the interview: Try to relax and do something to ease your nerves before your interview such as take a walk or listen to music. If you are having trouble picking out something to where, dress as though it is your first day on the job or how you believe the managers and supervisors dress.
- Be on time for the interview: Nothing is more unprofessional than arriving late. If you are unsure about where the interview is, try the directions to the location the day before. Leave extra early if it is during rush hour traffic or if parking is difficult.
- During the interview: When you first are greeted by the interviewer or the interview panel, be sure to introduce yourself and shake hands with everyone. This will set a professional tone for your interview. If there is an interview panel, make eye contact with whomever asked you the question and then make eye contact with other panel members as you answer. Listen carefully to the interview questions and ask for clarification if you are unsure about what you were asked. Try to keep your responses between 2-3 minutes and stay focused on your answer. If you are asked about a weakness or job separation issue, address the issue and then how you learned from the situation in a positive way. Usually at the end of interviews, the interviewer will ask the candidate if they have any questions. Take advantage of this opportunity to ask anything that you would like to know about the potential job. You can ask about the qualities they are looking for or what their expectations are for the position.
- Be sure to follow-up: You can ask the interviewer for feedback about your interview. If the employer shares information with you, use it as a learning experience for your next interview. Always send thank you letters to the interviewer or the interview panel. In your letter, emphasize any skills or qualifications that would apply to the position and include why you would like to work there.
